Every Nation, Race, People, and Tongue

Today's readings tell us of the Church's universality.

The Church might have been born of the people of Israel, but from its beginning it was meant to spread throughout the world—and it has.

The first reading describes the success that Paul and Barnabas enjoyed in cities in what today is Turkey. Believing that Jesus was the fulfillment of Jewish expectation, these missionaries naturally went first to the synagogues, where they preached to the Jewish people and those who had recently converted to Judaism. The next week the entire city came to hear them. This angered many of the Jewish people. The text says that this was because they were jealous of Paul and Barnabas. Jealous of what?

We know that many Jewish-Christians believed that converts had to accept the practices of Judaism before they were considered full members of the Jesus movement (see Acts 15:1). They maintained that everyone should be the same. Mention of converts in this story suggests this may have been the issue. Whatever the problem might have been, the movement spread, adapting itself as it did.

The vision reported in Revelation assures us that, in the end, the spread of the gospel will see completion. It will have been preached to and accepted by “every nation, race, people, and tongue” (7:9). This speaks of genuine universality rather than uniformity. This is unity among diversity. The distinctiveness of nation, race, people, and tongue will be respected because what really unites them is the “blood of the Lamb” (Revelation 7:14).

Sr. Dianne Bergant, CSA

FOR Reflection

- ★ How open are you to people of other nations, races, or tongues?
- ★ What might you learn from people with different backgrounds?

*I had a vision of a great multitude....
They stood before the throne and before the Lamb, wearing white robes and holding palm branches.*

Canada Health Day May 12

Canada Health Day is celebrated in health care facilities and community services across the country.

This day reminds us that health and healing are essential aspects of our baptismal vocation. We are called to take responsibility for our personal health: to prevent illness and to seek a healthy lifestyle. Good health concerns the physical, emotional, social and spiritual health of our communities, respect for God's creatures and the nurturing of the whole earth.

Easter season: For fifty days, the people of God reflect on the meaning of Jesus' resurrection and of their sharing in it through baptism: dying to sin and living for God. For seven weeks we celebrate the presence of Jesus among us. We celebrate his ascension, and pray to him, seated in glory with the Father. As we prepare for Pentecost, we ask him to fill us with the grace and power of his Spirit.

EASTER SEASON

The seven weeks from Easter to Pentecost are celebrated as one great Feast Day. St. Athanasius called them "the great Sunday." Christians sing the "Alleluia" during these days in their rejoicing.

Indigenous Reconciliation Fund

Over the past weeks, it was only possible for me to touch on some of the realities encountered by the Indigenous peoples in Canada. I have mainly touched on the issue of residential schools as this is where some dioceses and religious communities have been directly involved. I am well aware that there is still very much to be done to repair the legacy of the past, to overcome deep-seated systemic racism and to establish an equal footing between reconciled indigenous and non-indigenous peoples. I am also aware that no measure can fully erase the pain of the survivors or that of the people living with intergenerational trauma. However, by listening to and cultivating trusting relationships with our indigenous peoples while working collaboratively with them, we hope to learn to walk together on the path leading to truth and healing. The projects we will be able to support locally, thanks to your generosity, will be concrete signs of our commitment to accompany our indigenous brothers and sisters on the long road to reconciliation. For those who may not have had the opportunity to contribute to the Reconciliation Fund, there are envelopes still available in the churches. You can pick one up and make your donation whenever you wish.

Thank you very very much. May God bless us and sustain us in our efforts to bring people together leading to reconciliation.

-Archbishop Valéry Vienneau

Human Trafficking in Canada

Human trafficking is an issue that Canadians need to be more educated about and to find ways to prevent the victimization of the vulnerable and marginalized. Monitor any developments from the federal government's National Strategy to Combat Human Trafficking, which has a mandate until 2024. The federal government announced this strategy on September 4, 2019 with a commitment to invest $57.22 million over five years, starting in 2019-2020 with $10.28 million annually thereafter to support the strategy. The strategy "puts in place a coordinated framework to guide the Government of Canada's anti-human trafficking efforts in a way that will empower victims and survivors; prevent more of these crimes from taking place; better protect those who are most vulnerable to trafficking; prosecute human traffickers for their heinous crimes; and embrace partnerships with provinces and territories and other organizations to maximize the impact of efforts." April 25, 2022

Dear Families:

As the catechetical year comes to an end, I want to thank the parents and children who participated in the 2021-2022 Parent Coaching Program. Your support, patience and understanding have helped us navigate our way through another year of uncertainty related to COVID-19.

For the past two years out of necessity we have offered our families the option to participate in Parent Coaching sessions virtually via Zoom. However, with the removal of all public health restrictions by the Province of New Brunswick on March 14th, we have decided virtual sessions will not be offered for the 2022-2023 Catechetical Year.

As we have learned, public health restrictions can quickly change and we will revisit this decision when necessary. For now, your parish looks forward to gathering with your family in-person for Parent Coaching in September.

Have a wonderful summer!

Dear Padre,

Because it's not in the Bible, our Protestant friends don't believe in purgatory. When did the Catholic Church adopt this belief?

"All who die in God's grace and friendship, but [who are] still imperfectly purified, are indeed assured of their eternal salvation; but after death they [must] undergo purification, so as to achieve the holiness necessary to enter the joy of heaven" (Catechism of the Catholic Church, 1030). This process of purification is purgatory.

The word purgatory may not appear in the Bible, but it does capture a truth found there. Scriptural imagery of figuratively passing through fire for spiritual refinement helped formulate the doctrine of purgatory in the patristic period (see 1 Corinthians 3:15). Forgiveness of sins after death is also suggested in Matthew 12:32 and 2 Timothy 1:18.

By the Middle Ages, purgatory had been defined at the Second Council of Lyons (1274), the Council of Florence (1439), and in the Decree on Purgatory at the Council of Trent (1563). The doctrine of purgatory is part of our Tradition and deposit of faith. At one of his weekly general audiences in 2011, Pope Benedict XVI said, "Purgatory is like a purifying fire burning inside a person, a painful experience of regret for one's sins. A soul stained by sin cannot present itself to God" (see Revelation 21:27).

A WORD FROM Pope Francis

It is vitally important for the Church today to go forth and preach the gospel to all: to all places, on all occasions, without hesitation, reluctance, or fear....The Book of Revelation speaks of "an eternal gospel to proclaim to those who dwell on earth, to every nation and tongue and tribe and people."
